

Retracting a statement

Par minadom29, le 17/10/2009 à 01:07

Bonjour, I have filled out a statement, (not against my boss directly but a bit when I was ...) aimed at helping an old colleague of work who is now at the prud'homme. In effect, my old colleague asked me to confirm the functions he occupied in the company since my arrival. That is what I did without second thoughts. It is true that the prud'homme was something that he did not at all evoke at the moment when we signed this statement. It is true that this was done quickly and too quickly to my taste and I regret it since the beginning. Today his dismissal has taken enormous proportions. Or today I wish to have my statement removed from the file because his summons to the prud'homme will take place in a few days. Is it possible? What must I do to have my statement removed? Should I write to his lawyer? What should I write to retrieve the statement? Yes, it has consequences for me vis-à-vis of my direction? Thank you for answering me.